'I have been up to Belgrade for three days to rest my herves. It is a deso-late city. Normally there are 120,000 inhabitants; now there are about 8,000 returned. I worried the authorities until I got permission to visit the palace. The enemy's guns had got the range of it very well. Moreover, an availator's home had gone through the range of it very well. Moreover, an aviator's bomb had gone through the roof of the library and wrecked the library and throne room. The chapet royal, which had been made a sort of headquarters for the enemy's pillagers, was in an indescribable state of chaos. Clothes, china, stuffed birds, pictures, state papers and thousands of other things were littered about. In one corner was a collection of unnumbered bottles of all sorts of medicine for the cure of rheumatism, which the looters had brought from the royal apartments—the old King is a martyr to rheumatism, and has apparently tried averething that it is a supparently tried averething that it is a supparently to the content of the cure of the cure of the cure of rheumatism, which the looters had brought from the royal apartments—the old King is a martyr to rheumatism, and has apparently tried averething their dealers. to rheumatism, and has apparently tried everything that is sold anywhere Daily News says:
